

C. A. BUILDING CORNERSTONE

Be Laid Next Sunday, With Appropriate Ceremonies of Addresses and Music.

Next Sunday afternoon at 4:30 the Rev. Elmer I. Goshen will deliver the address at the fourteenth anniversary exercises of the local Young Men's Christian association in the C. A. building. Fourteen years ago, April 10, 1890, in the same place was held the first meeting of the association. The records show that the meeting was well attended and the four-fold work of the organization at the time set forth by different changes have come to the association that time, it having moved from its original home to another, being located at 41 East Second South then in the Holmes block, later in the Walker building, and still later in the Utah National Bank building. Here it remained until last May, when these quarters were closed and the announcement made that the association would never open its doors again in Salt Lake until it had a suitable building in which to conduct its work.

This course was made necessary by the fact that in the inefficient rented quarters the association was unable to do the work necessary in the city, nor to secure revenue to meet its expenses. Some $2500 indebtedness having accrued by the fall of 1902, this has now been paid, and, in addition, a very large part of the funds necessary for the erection of the new building. Mrs. Charles G. Plummer and Miss Agatha Berkhol, whose names alone speak for music of the highest character, will each furnish a solo for the above occasion.

Just prior to the anniversary meeting will occur the laying of the cornerstone of the association's new building, at 4 o'clock, at which Frank Pierce will deliver the address. Mr. Pierce was for four consecutive years president of the association, and that during some of the most trying periods in its history. The many friends of the association are most cordially invited to attend both of these exercises, which mark an epoch in the Salt Lake City Y. M. C. A. Although the finance committee, of which S. V. Shipley is chairman, is now prosecuting a vigorous campaign for the completion of the building, neither of these occasions will be used in anywise to solicit or ask for funds. The committee in charge has forwarded to George Foster Peabody an invitation to be present and participate in the laying of the cornerstone of the building whose prime friend and greatest benefactor he is. Some of those closely in touch with Mr. Peabody are very much in hope that he will accept, on account of his great interest in Utah affairs and association work in particular.

STENOGRAPHERS' CLUB PERFECTS ORGANIZATION

The stenographers, under the name of the Stenos' club, held their meeting at the Barnacle Thursday evening. The club is headed by many well-known stenographers of this city, and below are the names of the members holding office:

President, J. E. Williams, secretary to C. F. McNitt, auditor of the Oregon Short Line; vice-president, L. R. Smith, with the Smith-Premier Typewriter company; recording secretary, Miss Rose Smith, with the Western Newspaper Union; corresponding secretary, Paul Nolan, secretary to S. V. Derrah, assistant general freight agent of the Denver & Rio Grande; treasurer, Bert Margetts, secretary to E. W. Gillett, general passenger agent San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake; chairman of programme committee, Miss Daisy Wolfgang, with auditor of the Oregon Short Line; pressman, J. Harvey Ashby, with the Utah Stove & Hardware company.

Several new members were present, and all took an active part in the meeting. The club is rapidly coming to the front, and the members feel doubly repaid for their efforts toward the organization.

President J. E. Williams made some very interesting remarks as to the good to be derived by the stenographers binding themselves together in a social and literary club. After all business had been disposed of, the Barnacle was turned into a concert hall, and popular songs and music filled the air until a late hour.

At the next meeting some prominent people in shorthand circles will address the club, and the members look forward to a very enjoyable and profitable evening. The programme committee has also been at work and will entertain the club after the regular business has been transacted.

The business men are in favor of the movement, and it will not be long before the club will have the support of all people interested in shorthand and typewriting. Members need not fear that they will be bound by any union rules, as the club will have no union principles in its government. Its object is to promote better work among the profession, to bring the members into closer social relations and to take care of its members out of employment. The next meeting will be held at the Barnacle, in Kendall square, next Thursday evening. The club extends a hearty invitation to all stenographers and promises a good time to all.

JAPANESE MAY CROSS YALU IF THEY CHOOSE

ST. PETERSBURG, April 23, 2:05 p. m.—Everything is reported quiet from the theater of war.

In spite of the reports from Seoul and Tokio that the Russians are massing 50,000 men to resist the Japanese crossing the Yalu river, it can be asserted with great positiveness that obstinate obstruction of the enemy's crossing is no part of Gen. Kuropatkin's tactics.

The Russians intend that the Japanese shall have the river behind them before giving battle in force. Gen. Kuropatkin's plans in this respect are fully approved here. Of course, the Russians will do all in their power to render the crossing as difficult and expensive as possible, but the first decisive engagement will occur in Manchuria, where the Russians believe they will have the advantage of position.

The Japanese fleet is again reported to be off Port Arthur but the report is not official.

THREE FIREMEN KILLED IN SIX-STORY FIRE

NEWARK, N. J., April 23.—Three firemen were killed and fifteen others injured today at a fire in a six-story brick building in Mechanic street, occupied by Wiener & Co., saddlery hardware manufacturers.

While the fire was at its height a score of firemen were on the roof of the building of the Empire Gear and Top company, a one-story brick structure adjoining the Wiener building. An explosion occurred in the Wiener building which blew out the wall of that building and three stories of the side wall of the Wiener structure crashed down on the firemen.

The building on the roof of which they were standing was smashed like an egg shell and the men were buried under a huge mass of brick and timber. Three of the firemen were in a dying condition when taken out. Two died on the way to the hospital and the third just after reaching there.
